

Seventh and First Grades: Children's Paintings

PAINTING WITH CHILDREN IN WALDORF SCHOOLS

An intensive course for Waldorf teachers and parents with Gail McManus

August 15 - 20, 2016

at the Arteum School of Painting in Ghent, NY

Are you wondering how to develop a meaningful painting curriculum for your class? Do you have the wish to investigate the deeper significance of painting with children, which encourages a healthy balance in the child's physical organism, soul faculties, and social relationships? This six-day intensive course, based on the indications of Rudolf Steiner for a new direction in painting with youth and adults, provides the opportunity to explore an entirely new approach to color upon which the class teacher of grades 1 - 8, as well as the high school teacher, may develop his or her painting lessons. Teachers will come away with a wealth of painting exercises to share with their classes in the coming school year.

Gail McManus is a graduate of the Goetheanum Painting School, Dornach, Switzerland, the center for Rudolf Steiner's impulse. She has 16 years experience as a Waldorf class teacher, painting with children on a weekly basis. Gail also has enjoyed leading high school art classes. This summer's Painting Course will be one of many Gail has taught to teachers and parents in the US and internationally.

"Gail is a gifted artist - a former class teacher at Rudolf Steiner years ago and an art teacher and class teacher at various Waldorf schools internationally and in North America. Her training in art was in Dornach. Please distribute her flyers in your school and programs." - Carol Bartges, AWSNA delegate Cost: Tuition (including materials) is $500. Some tuition assistance may be available.

Lodging: Assistance with lodging can be provided. Camping is also possible.

APPLICATION: Please send a $50 non-refundable registration fee, to be applied toward tuition, to the Arteum School of Painting, 1030 Route 21, Harlemville, Ghent, NY 12075.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Please contact Gail McManus at gail@gailmcmanus.com or phone 518 653-2957 or the Arteum at 518 672-5746.